WASHINGTON TERMINAL WALK

Saturday, March 6, 2027

Learn a mix of Washington DC railroad and streetcar history on a two-mile, two-hour guided walking tour along the Metropolitan Branch Trail on Saturday, March 6, 2027. This "archeological" tour focusing on the Washington Terminal Company will begin at 1:30PM at the Rhode Island Avenue Metro Station. We'll stroll to and stop at multiple locations to discuss the significant railroad sites that once existed in this area of the District of Columbia, view a few remaining traces, and glimpse some of the current CSX and Amtrak operations. Washington Terminal Company was established in 1901 by the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroads and served all of the passenger trains that came to Union Station. The walking tour will conclude at approximately three-thirty in the afternoon at Washington DC's Union Station.

PER PERSON FARES:

Includes guided walking tour as described.
